In Minnesota, Desparte was chief of planning for the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency developing water quality management plans between Canada and the U.S. He then went on to be the state director of the Minnesota Environmental Quality Council. Desparte moved back to Wisconsin and worked as an associate professor for the University in Economic and Community Development. He and his family later moved to Florida where he was a county commissioner for Flagler County and manager of growth and development in the Florida Keys.

Danny J. Henson

Danny Henson born in Murphy, NC and moved his family to Blairsville, Georgia in 1973. He owned and operated Henson & Associates from 1989 until 2019. Henson has had the privilege of serving you on the Board of Directors of Blue Ridge Mountain EMC as a Director from Union County the last three years. During that time he has completed the classes required of all directors on the Board. Continuity on the Board has helped the success of Blue Ridge Mountain EMC. Since 2017, the Board has increased the number of broadband customers by 40%, the equity position has increased from 29.38% to 37.94%, $6 million less in debt and are adding approximately 900 new electric customers a year. No single Board member can change anything by him or herself. Working together is what makes the difference. If reelected, Henson will do his best to continue to serve the membership as he’s done for the last three years.

Jason Hughes

Jason Hughes is a lifelong resident of Union County, Georgia; graduating from Union County High School. After high school, Hughes attended the University of North Georgia and earned a bachelor of science. He is owner and president of G & A Contracting, Inc. located in Blairsville since 1996. The company specializes in the installation of low voltage (fiber optics and data) cabling for various large businesses and industries throughout the southeastern states. Hughes and his wife of 29 years, Leslie, reside in Blairsville. They have two children, Hannah and Hunter. He is an active member of Hayesville First Free Will Baptist Church. When he isn’t working, he enjoys spending time with his wife and children, traveling, reading, and working in the yard.

Solomon Patrick

Solomon Patrick lives in Blairsville, Georgia with his wife and two daughters. He was born in a dirt floor log cabin in Trackrock, and remembers the day in the early 1980s that electricity was installed in the farm house where he grew up in Brasstown, North Carolina. He owns Patrick Construction, Inc.; a residential-light commercial contracting company focusing on energy-efficient, low maintenance construction and design. Patrick is a strong believer in community involvement and has served with a number of local and regional non-profit organizations including Builders for Christ and Habitat for Humanity. He has attended House of Prayer for 22 years.
